DUNSHON'S NEWLY INVENTED PATENT COTTON Gunpowder—American Patent for sale.—This gunpowder is superior to ordinary black gunpowder in every way; it is saier, stronger, cheaper and smokeless. Its force is so great that it is calculated no iron-class ship could be built that would withstand the shock of balls driven by cotton gunpowder. Weight for weight it will drive a builter with double the velocity of black gunpowder. Its advantages for mining purposes are also very great. It is stronger and safer than dynamite or itho-fracture and other compounds of nitro-glycerine. It has been twice tried before a commission appointed by the English government and once before a commissioner from the Austrian government. In each case the layer of the commissioner from the Austrian government. In each case the was also trie was fully proved. (See English Times newspaper of 16th April, 1872, and other journals of that date.) The inventor and patenties, Mr. Robert Punshon, of No. 4 Queen square, Westminster, England, is willing to sell the United State, as he wishes to retain an interest in the American works, the same as he has with the present Furopean Company, who are building large works in England.
